THE WALLACK CUP. The Regatta To-Day-The Course and

Entries. The regatta for the Wallack Cup will be sailed to day by the schooners of the New York Yacht Club. The cup was presented last year by Mr. Lester Wallack, and as on the day appointed for the race the weather proved too thick and foggy, it was decided to postpone the regatta until this year. About seven or eight schooners are entered, and should there be a fresh breeze the meeting of the Magic, Resolute, Peerless, Tidal Wave, Madeleine, Eva and Foam will be watched with much interest. The admirers of the Madeleine think that since her alterations this spring she is fit to sail any yacht in New York waters, and say they are willing to match the Columbia, Magic or any other of the notably fast yachts for from five to ten thousand dollars. A number of residents of the city will pass to-day at Long Branch, in order to witness the yachts turn the stakeboat off the West End Hotel.

The regatta will be sailed under the sailing regulations of the New York Yacht Club, and attention is called to the fact that, by recent action of the club, the rule restricting the number of men to be carried on regattas was rescinded, and yachts may carry any number of men.

All yachts will carry their private signals at the main peak.

All yachts will carry their private signals at the main peak.

Will be a flying one, and the time of each yacht will be taken as she crosses a line between Sandy Hook Buoy No. 5 and the judges' steamer (the William Fletcher.)

The signals for starting will be given from the judges' steamer, as follows:—

For a preparatory signal, one whistle and the yacht club flag on the steamer will be lowered, and ten minutes later, for the start, one whistle and the flag will be again lowered. No yacht's time will be taken later than iffteen minutes after the second whistle, unless instructions to the contrary are given by the judges. The expiration of the time will be marked by a third whistle and lowering of flag.

THE COURSE

will be from the starting point as above to and around a stakeboat off the West End Hotel, Long Branch, keeping it on the port hand in turning, and return over the same course. Yachts will pass between the judges' boat and Bnoy No. 5 off Sandy Hook.

THE HARLEM YACHT CLUB. The Annual Regatta of the Club-The Entries for the Race. The annual regatta of the Harlem Yacht Club is announced to take place next Thursday. This club has made rapid strides in public favor during the past six months, and since the election of Commo dore William Kipp its membership has increased very rapidly, in fact more than doubled. The club now musters 170 members on its roll, and owns some very fine sloop yachts. A very important change for the better was made early in the season, when the Club House was removed to a favorable site on the Sound, about ten minutes' ride from Harlem Bridge. By this move the tedious sail through the intricate and sometimes unnavigable waters of the Kills has been avoided, and the club have now as fine an auchorage for their yachts as that possessed by any club in these waters.

The steamer Pleasant Valley has been chartered by the club to follow the yachts round the course, and during the trip Grafulla's Band will lend their quota to the pleasures of the hour by some delightful music. The Pleasant Valley will leave Fulton ful music. The Pleasant Valley will leave Fulton ferry at a quarter past nine o'clock on the morning of the regatta, calling at Eighth street at half-past nine, Astoria at ten minutes to ten, 119th street at ten, and Harlem Bridge at eleven and Kinety-second street at ten minutes past eleven. The Regatta Committee are Messrs. F. Plvison, Clinton Hunter and S. van Nostrand; the judges, Captain Samuels and F. M. Sawyer. Commodore W. Kipp will be on board the Pleasant Valley all day, in order to pay special attention to the comfort of the guests. There will be plenty of refreshments on board, but no bar. The course will be from a stakeboat off the Club House to and around Success Beacon and back to stakeboat, all yachts going and returning to pass eastward of Throgg's Point Buoy, and westward of Stepping Stones Can Buoy, turning Success Beacon from leeward to windward. The following yachts will compete in the regatta.

THE NEW JERSEY YACHT CLUB REGATTA. The first annual regatta of the New Jersey Yacht Club will be sailed to-day on the North River. This club, although a new organization of the present year, has become very popular among yachtsmen on the Jersey side, and now owns a handsome fleet of sloop yachts. The yachts will be started about of sloop yachts. The yachts will be started about anchored off their Club House at Hoboken to a stakeboat anchored off the Columbia Yacht Club House, at the foot of Fifty-ninth street; from thence to the stakeboat anchored off Pleasant Valley and back home. The steamer Fort Lee has been chartered by the club to accompany the yachts round the course, and a band of music will be on board. About eighteen yachts will compete in the regatta.

SUDDEN DEATH OF ALDERMAN HARTT.

About half-past four o'clock yesterday morning Assistant Alderman Charles P. Hartt was taken suddenly ill at his residence, No. 19 Fifth avenue, whereupon several physicians were immediately summoned; but death ensued two hours subsequently, before any of them arrived. Mr. Hartt was apparently in good health on Saturday afternoon, and during the evening took a long walk in Central Park. After retiring for the night walk in Central Park. After returing for the night he rested well up to the time he was attacked. Last fall the deceased was elected Assistant Alderman on the reform ticket, and acted fully up to his principles. At the time of his death Alderman Harty was Treasurer of the Délaware and Hudson Canal Company, and formerly had been Cashier of the Second National Bank of this city. It is believed that his death was the result of heart disease, but that will be determined by Coroner Keenan, who was notified to hold an inquest over the remains. Alderman Hartt, who has left a widow, without children, was fifty-four years of age and a native of Troy, this State.

ARSON. Setting Fire to a Tenement House-The Criminal Arrested.

For some months past James O'Hara has been occupying the basement of No. 13 Desbrosses street as a stable. The upper part of the building is occupied as a dwelling by four or five families. For some reason or another O'Hara was ordered to vacate the premises, but this he refused to do. Saturday last the agent of the property procured a dispossess warrant and proceeded to eject the obnoxious occupant. At this O'Hara was greatly enraged, and swore he would "get square" with the agent. About eleven o'clock at night Mr. Gerrett Crowe, one of the occupants of the upper portion of the building, saw a light in the basement, and on going down found that O'Hara had set fire to the house by means of a lighted candle, which had been so placed that the flame came in contact with one of the beams, which was already in a blaze. O'Hara was just in the act of quitting the place when Mr. Crowe discovered the fire, and, on his being arrested, acknowledged to have placed the candle in the position above described. He, however, disclaimed any intention of setting fire to the building. Yesterday morning he was taken before Judge Scott, who was sitting for Judge Hogan at the Tombs, and was committed in default of beil. Saturday last the agent of the property procured a LONG BRANCH.

The Fashionable Watering Place in Undress.

Elemental First Class Society-Surf Bathing: Its Attractions and Its Lessons-Prospective Recreations-A Live Lord of a Night-What He Did, How He Looked and Why He Left.

LONG BRANCH, June 23, 1872. It is exceedingly funny to watch the movements of these ultra fashionable folks. Here, on this glorious American Sunday morning, are several hundred people desperately anxious that the lookers on should consider themselves habitues of Ems or Wiesbaden. Even the little children have caught the infection. Sensible and well-behaved matrons step round the corridors of the hotel with elevated backs and hands raised to the level of their eyes, and apparently broken at the joints. The children, quick to eatch the fever of fashionable life, are all afflicted the same way. The poor little things trot about like so many monkeys eager to prove the wisdom of Darwin's conclusions. Watering place life to these people must be a frightiul burden, and the equivocal honor of dropping dollars as you go must be mourned, in secret, by the majority of the shade-seeking residents. And talking of shade, there is little of it to be found here. It is true that at night, when the

THE BELLES OF THE BRANCH. an eager breeze comes up from the intruding and boisterous sea, and a wanton wind plays around the open corridors of the caravansaries; but in the heat of the day our time is principally occupled in dodging the sianting sunbeams. The bluefish have not arrived, and they are ever welcome guests, and the season so far is dull; ennul characterizes the place. But, after all, this idea of nothingness and suspicion of inability to move in any given direction is just what is required in a watering place. There is an ecstasy in inaction unappreciable by those whose life for a twelve month was filled with unhealthy excite ment. Untoid pleasure often exists in a lazy roll in the sand, or an indifferent fight with the incoming waves rushing overpoweringly in on the hardened strand.

POLITICS.

Long Branch may be, possibly, a hotbed of politics this season, but there is very little political disturbance to be seen by the naked eye just yet. The caldron is on the fire, but it won't boil for week or two. A TEAKETTLE COTERIE assembled here a few days ago, but they did not amount to anything. I may probably give you a verbatim report of their proceedings in my next letter. Until then the least said about them the better, and more important matters claim attenbetter, and more important matters claim attention.

LONG BRANCH SOCIETY
does not, generally speaking, promise very much in the way of variety ofher than has become periodical. With the exception of some stranded representatives of the Faubourg St. Germain portion of society this is not a fashionable resort par excellence. Several resons conduce to this, prominent among which is the propinquity of the Branch to the metropolis, thus throwing it open to a class not an acquisition to any suburban retreat. Grant's presence, too, has its drawbacks, as our republican court of the present day is more remarkable for simplicity than display, while largely pestered in its movements by a swarm of office-holders or office-seekers. These sort of people are not distinguished for social excellencies, and as they are generally obtrusive their presence, doubtless, deters many from visiting the Branch who would otherwise be glad to avail themselves of the attractions of its magnificent beach.

BATHING HAS PAIRLY COMMENCED

with the recent heated term, and the refreshing stimulant of a struggle in the surf is daily indulged in by the visitors, much, doubtless, to their own enjoyment and satisfaction. This surf bathing presents a problem to an indifferent looker on from terra firma the solution of which is far from flattering to those who affect its fatiguing excitement. To be knocked down by a wave, rolled on the sand, scratched and bruised, to say nothing of the danger of being carried off by the undertow, does not offer very much attraction to the ordinary mind, and as fashion has made it "the thing" to buffet with the surf at certain periods during a sojourn "on the beach," they do it as becomes well-ored people.

In these days of paniers and polonaises the bachelor looker on is frequently startled at the transformation which takes place in a bath house here, and so often loses track of his most intimate female friends from the time they reach the sands; but happly they are restored to him after a white in all their pristine c and so often loses track of his most intimate female friends from the time they reach the sands; but happily they are restored to him after a while in all their pristine contours.

PREPARATIONS ARE IN PROGRESS for the usual stereotyped antidotes to enumi in the way of promenade concerts and the inevitable hops. One at the West End, promised at an early day, and for which arrangements are already being made, will be, it is anticipated, a brilliant affair. The hotels are rapidly filling up since the advent of the late warm weather, last night's steamer bringing down the usual crowd of Sunday visitors, who, however, might be very largely dispensed with by the regular sojourners. Long Branch is peculiarly circumstanced in this respect. Its reputation and attractiveness rest principally, if not wholly, upon its nearness to New York, given a good beach, of course, while its continued prosperity as a first class watering place is dependent upon the absence of any greater lacilities of travel than already exist to and from New York.

THE EARL OF A DAY.

Our fashionable society has been in a feverish futter for the past few days at the advent of an English Lord, reported to be immensely wealthy and very handsome. This entertaining individual resides at the West End, and scatters his money like "wealthy men who care not how they give." If an obsequious darkey ever lifts a cloth brush, my lord rewards his polite attention with a bill, and in fact fractional currency seems to have no place in his expenditures. He is invariably so well dressed that nickel coin would spoil the periect set of his pants and consequently never condescends either to give or take change, and in the afinals of Long Branch no representative of English aristocracy has ever so astonished the natives by extravagance and expensive dissipation as this young nobleman. A man of the world, gentlemanly, cynical and abstemious in alcoholic matters, he takes a Mephistophelean delight in squandering money in every kind of pleasure, and throws down the ducats w

peches were gotten up on his account, and his posed

A MOONLIGHT EXCURSION.

When he spoke in a group silence reigned, and his most commonplace remarks were listened to with a profound respect. This state of affairs went on until about midnight, when the writer remarked to a grim mercantile gentleman, "How very unassuming and agreeable that young Earl of Londonderry is "" The man of money and markets turned a three-quarter face from the sherry cobbler he was just about swallowing and growled, "Earl be damned; he is a kidderminster carpet manufacturer, visiting the country on a spree." This discovery got wind, and "the Earl of a day" found himself avoided in the same ratio as he was formerly flattered. Mr.

—, a well-known stock broker, started the rumor by way of a joke, and, finding it a good card, kept if up for the evening. The carpet manufacturer is yet at a loss to understand the sudden change of feeling, and asks, despairingly, "Whashave I done?"

SOCIETY FORMING.

At this moment everything is so exceedingly dull change of feeling, and asks, despairingly, "Whathave I done?"

SOCIETY PORMING.

At this moment everything is so exceedingly dull here that, beyond just what I have written, nothing remains to be said. The atoms of society are still in a disorganized condition, and until some fusion takes place life here will be made up of generalities. This amalgamation, however, takes place rapidly in watering places, and will doubtless happen here before the week is over, and when this results gossip begins. We have the "stock actors" of fashion now here, but until the President returns from Boston there will be no performance,

Mrs. Ellen Collins, an Irish woman, thirty-seven years of age, died in Believue Hospital on Saturday night. Deceased was a cook, and about eight months ago, while living at 347 Madison street, at-tempted to extinguish a kerosene oil lamp by blowing down the tube. In doing so the lamp ex-ploded and burned her so severely that death re-sulted. Coroner Keenan was notified.
